

The Ever Living

Qattara Arts Centre, Al Ain
18 / 03 / 26 - 18 / 03 / 27

The Ever Living presents the Earth as a living archive of memory, change, and renewal. Through material and landscape, the exhibition reflects on our shared existence with the natural world.

The exhibition invites viewers to think about ecological relationships on many levels on the scale of oceans and weather systems, but also in the small rhythms of breath, stillness, and everyday awareness. It suggests that paying attention is itself a way of being in relationship with the Earth, and that our senses are part of how the planet's changes are felt and understood. In this view, humans are not separate from nature but are woven into the same ongoing processes, they ask us to imagine forms of living based on care, reciprocity, and responsibility.
